SHOOTS POLICE AS BANDITS; KILLS OFFICER

Stewart Mistakes Squad for Kidnapers; Exonerated at Inquest

To defend his wife from men he mistook for the party of bandits that have kidnaped and assaulted women of the vicinity recently, Hugh T. Stewart, cashier of the West Highlands State bank, shot and instantly killed Officer William A. Perrin, 6150 Talman ave., chauffeur of a detective bureau car that halted in front of his home, 8515 Paulina st., shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

Frank Warburton of police district 17, 3002 Lowe ave., and David Van Booven, 7639 Dante ave., both occupants of the police car, were injured in the shooting. Sergt. Peter Carney, 912 W. 35th st., squad leader, was unhurt.

Stewart was exonerated Monday afternoon by the coroner's jury, but was immediately rearrested charged with attempting to kill the other two policemen. At the Grand Crossing court the following morning, at the request of police, a continuance of the case until December 17 was granted by Judge Francis B. Allegretti. Bonds were set at $1,500.

Discussion of numerous attacks and robberies in the community lately engaged Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Davis, with whom they spent the fatal evening at 2015 E. 70th st. The banker told of rumors that he was being followed by someone. Worried by the talk, Stewart agreed to borrow Mr. Davis' gun, after its owner had related details of his own recent hold-up.

Opens Fire

Alert for bandits, Stewart selected a different route home, drove to his door, and watched his wife entering their home. Simultaneously the police machine, touring the neighborhood on patrol duty, stopped beside him to see why the woman was hurrying into the apartment. Stewart at once opened fire, suspicious of the men in the auto, one of whom he alleged at the inquest said, "Here's the man!" ending the remark with an obscene name.

Emptying contents of the weapon into the auto four feet away, Stewart then fled down the middle of the street shouting for police.

Sergeant Carney soon caught up with him.

Claim Gong Was Sounded

According to Carney the last duty of Perrin was to sound the police gong as the squad neared the machine at the curb. A second later the chauffeur slumped into his seat dead, a bullet through his heart. The sergeant was seated beside him at the time.

Testimony at the inquest Monday afternoon in the Reilly morgue, 1718 W. 63rd st., conflicted regarding the gong's ringing, which Stewart claimed was not heard until after he had shot through the open glass of his car window.

The shots attracted the attention of Officer Robert Fleming, 7044 Lowe ave., traveling his beat 200 feet north of 81th st. on Paulina. He hastened to the scene. Stewart called the Gresham police station and Sergeant Carney summoned the police ambulance which removed the injured men to the Auburn Park hospital. Perrin was placed on the operating table, but was pronounced dead by Dr. Waterman. Mrs. Stewart was in a hysterical condition when the officers arrived at the home.

Questioned as to whether he could

CHRISTMAS SHORT STORY CONTEST WINNER TO GET RADIO PUBLICITY

MANUSCRIPTS IN EVERY MAIL WITH FINAL DAY STILL TWO WEEKS OFF

There may be nineteen more shopping days until Christmas, but, Sundays included, there are only sixteen more days in which south side residents may enter manuscripts in the Southtown Economist's Christmas Short Story Contest, for the "dead line" on entries is midnight Thursday, December 18.

Already, altho the contest has been announced only two weeks, stories are arriving in every mail and it looks as tho the three judges—Howard Mumford Jones, exchange professor from the University of Texas who is at the University of Chicago this winter, Miss Louie Doupice, instructor in English at the Chicago Normal college, and Mrs. J. J. Barclay of Morgan Park—will have a heavy pre-holiday task.

The stories will be judged immediately after the close of the contest and winners will be announced in the Christmas edition of the Economist, in which the first prize story will also be published.

Checks for the prizes, $50 first, $25 second, and $10 third, will be in the hands of the winners in time for them to spend the sums before Christmas if they so desire.

But fame among Economist subscribers and the prize checks are not all the writer of the best story submitted has to look forward to. The reading of his tale has been announced for one of the Christmas features to be broadcast by WBCN, the Economist's new radio station which will open Saturday, and his name and story may be heard by Christmas radio listeners-in all over the country.

Contest rules follow:

1. The story must relate to Christmas.

2. Stories may not be over 3,000 words in length and must be typewritten on one side of the paper only. If the author wishes his manuscript returned he must accompany it with a self-addressed envelope and sufficient postage to cover mailing charges.

3. All manuscripts must be in before midnight, Thursday, December 18. They may be mailed to "Christmas Story Contest Editor, Southtown Economist, 728 W. 65th st." or brought in person to the Economist office.

4. Name of the writer must not be on manuscript, but must be placed, together with address and telephone number, in a sealed envelope which must accompany the story. Story and envelopes will not be opened until envelope are to be numbered, and after judges have reached their decision.

5. The Economist is to have all publication rights to the three prize-winning stories.

6. The contest is open to any resident of Chicago's south side or student in a south side school.

DEATH FROM FUMES IN CLOSED GARAGE

Carbon monoxide fumes in the exhaust from the motor of his automobile caused the death of Stanley Wismavski, 29, 6039 Green st., in a garage in the rear of 626 W. 61st st. Sunday morning.

Wismavski, a real estate salesman, went to get the machine, and it is believed that he had allowed the engine to warm up with the doors of the garage closed when he was overcome. His body was found by Stanley Skloris, 626 W. 61st st., from whom he rented the garage.

At the inquest held Monday at Cunningham's morgue, 6237 Normal ave., a verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury.

SAVE MILLION IN SOUTHTOWN FOR YULETIDE

Christmas Savings Clubs of Fifteen Banks Report Startling Figures

Over one million dollars—$1,019,000 in round numbers—has gone into fifteen Southtown banks during the year 1924 via the Christmas savings clubs route, reports from the various institutions this week on totals of checks mailed out to patrons show.

In Englewood alone 10,800 people put $161,000 into banks to assure a visit from jolly old Kris Kringle, come Christmas. But can it therefore be presumed that Southtown will spend the entire million and then some she banked, on Christmas presents? By no means, for bankers declare a large portion of the club funds is turned back immediately into regular savings accounts or is invested.

Even children, who are of no inconsiderable importance in the Christmas clubs, are forbearing the holiday temptations of the shops for the sake of a permanent bank account.

R. J. Mitchell, cashier of the First Englewood State bank, stated that approximately 2,000 depositors had saved $110,000 through the Christmas savings plan of his establishment. Most of the number have cashed their Christmas savings check and deposited the funds in one of their regular savings accounts. And besides this, practically every old customer took out a new Christmas savings certificate.

At the United State bank, figures furnished by F. A. Putnam, vice president, show that 3,250 depositors saved $101,000 during 1924 under the Christmas plan.

Otto J. Meier of the Guarantee Trust and Savings bank, of which he is vice president and cashier, stated that 1,700 depositors had rolled up a total of $70,000 in Christmas savings. All of them were going into the 1925 club, he stated, and Santa Claus is being a bit double crossed by the bank's patrons, as they are putting the money into the bank in deposits instead of paying it out for Christmas presents.

The same was maintained at the 63rd and Halsted Savings bank. C. H. Dehning, president, said that 2,500 patrons of his bank had been faithful depositors in the 1924 clubs and that $125,000 had been paid out in Christmas checks.

The Halsted State bank, with 1,000 Christmas savings patrons, amassed $40,000 which is coming back in deposits, Henry Kloest, the cashier, stated.

The Commonwealth State bank was not without its thrifty patrons. H. L. Blount, cashier, told the Economist. Three hundred fifty people had Christmas savings which amounted to $18,000.

Other Southtown banks report savings in 1924 Christmas clubs as follows:

	No. Depositors	Amts. saved
West Englewood National bank	1,000	28,000
West Englewood Trust and Savings	3,780	170,000
Ashland & 63rd State bank	1,000	28,000
Marquette Park State bank	800	43,000
Chicago Lawn State bank	1,000	43,000
Mutual National	3,280	175,000
Beverly State Savings	500	21,000
Auburn Park Trust and Savings	500	20,000
West Highland State bank	750	27,000

PENNSYLVANIA TRAINS WRECKED MONDAY NEAR ENGLEWOOD STATION

ITALIAN IMMIGRANT WOMAN IS KILLED, HER SON AND OTHERS INJURED

One woman, an Italian immigrant, was killed and a number of people were injured when a Pennsylvania passenger train ran into a second Monday morning at Princeton and 61st st., telescoping the rear coach of the first, which was partially filled with Italian immigrants.

Mrs. Pierina Zappettini, who was on her way from Zassego, Italy, to join her husband in Sparks, Nevada, was trapped in a washroom with her 3-year-old son, George. When firemen chopped into the car to reach her they found her dead. The child was badly scalded, but at the Englewood hospital, where he was taken, it is said that he will be able to leave the hospital as soon as his father comes for him.

Among the other injured were J. T. Maxwell, railway expressman of Logansport, Ind., Mrs. Anna Grant of Cincinnati, Ohio, Mary Durkin of New York City and Mrs. Carrie Moore, 5800 Lincoln st. Maxwell and Mrs. Grant were taken to Englewood hospital.

Train No. 100, due from the east at 7:09 o'clock, had left the Englewood station about an hour late, when a defective air brake connection caused the train to part between two sleepers. As it was halted for repairs, No. 201, which is also a Pennsylvania train, struck the rear coach.

Engineer F. C. Runnels, who was in charge of the rear train, has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania road for twenty-one years. He said he saw no signals and could not explain how the wreck had occurred.

At the inquest Tuesday afternoon at Lain's morgue he and other trainmen were exonerated from blame.

The husband has been notified of the death of his wife and the injuries to his son and is now on his way to Chicago. Until his arrival the affairs of the husband is being discharged by the office of the Italian consul.

MANOR IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION ELECTS CONNELLY PRESIDENT

RETIRING OFFICER IS HONORED AFTER FIVE YEARS' SERVICE FOR IMPROVEMENT

Michael J. Connelly was elected president of the Park Manor improvement association Monday evening at Brook's hall, 7105 South Park ave. Other officers named were Charles Young, vice-president; Fred R. M. Klippel, financial secretary; Charles S. Duffett, recording secretary; J. A. Johnson, treasurer, and C. C. Maley, sergeant-at-arms.

Five directors, John Hoffman, Walter P. Creech, M. J. Connelly, Charles Young and James B. McCann, were elected to serve three years. M. V. Tyler and John W. Riordan will serve two- and one-year terms, respectively, on the same board.

A new office, that of past president, was created for Gerald H. Voss, who retired after five years' service. As past president, Mr. Voss will remain a member of the organization's executive committee.

A request was received from the East Hamilton Park Home Owners' association asking for co-operation in a "clean-up" campaign on State st. between 69th and 71st sts. Complaints have been made about conditions in this neighborhood, where it is charged gambling is prevalent at all hours of the night.

Transportation problems were given consideration. The organization went on record as opposed to any further laying of surface car tracks or construction of elevated railroads in the Park Manor district.

A committee was appointed to attend the meeting at Hamilton park Tuesday evening, when sewer facilities were discussed.

ENGLEWOOD LIONS TO ENLARGE MEMBERSHIP BY BIG DRIVE IN 1925

QUALITY OF MEMBERS, NOT QUANTITY, TO BE AIM OF CLUB; REPORT ON "MIKADO"

Beginning with the new year, the Englewood Lions club will stage a membership drive to bring the number in the den to fifty, it was decided at the regular weekly luncheon at the College cafe Friday. Particular stress will be paid to the quality of the new members and not to quantity, it was declared.

After some deliberation, it was decided to make the membership dues $50 a year, which will care for all expenses of the club, paying rent, and incidentals as well as taking care of the luncheons. This amount would be paid in quarterly installments and it is believed that this will have the tendency to bring out a full attendance at the luncheons.

A report on the finances following the recent presentation of the play, "The Mikado," revealed that after all expenses have been defrayed that the Lions will net about $250 which will be used to aid the work of charitable organizations doing relief work in the immediate vicinity. A rising vote of thanks were given the women who assisted the Englewood Lions in putting over the play.

FRUIT DEALER ROBBED OF $50 BY BANDIT TRIO

Three men, all armed, held up Solomon Tezotsky in his fruit store at 6523 Halsted st., Friday night and robbed him of $50. Tezotsky reported to the Englewood police.

HEARINGS ON TRANSIT PROBLEM FRIDAY

Public hearings on the proposed extensions of the surface and elevated lines will start Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in either the council chamber or the committee rooms on the second floor of the city hall, according to Alderman Donald S. McKinley, of the 19th ward.

Extensions south of 55th st. will first be given consideration by the transportation committee and all organizations that are interested are urged to be on hand.

The date for the hearing was set at the meeting Tuesday afternoon of the transportation committee when Alderman U. S. Schwartz, chairman, was authorized to arrange meetings between attorneys of the city, and bankers representing security owners of the surface lines in order to fit a basis on which an appraisal of the property could be made.

PAM TO SPEAK AT E. B. M. A. BANQUET, DANCE

Arrangements Complete for Annual Gala Night of Business Men

With the announcement this week that Judge Hugo Pam of the superior court will be the chief speaker, arrangements for the annual banquet and dance of the Englewood Business Men's association, to be held Wednesday evening, December 10, at the Cooper-Carlton hotel, have been completed.

Talks will be short, the committee on arrangements is assuring ticket purchasers—indeed, aside from Judge Pam's address, only a short welcoming message from President Harry J. Mapp is planned—and it is expected to have dancing under way by 9 o'clock.

Ray Fiske's orchestra has been secured for the evening and Fiske's quartet will provide specialties. Tommy Owens, announcer for WLS radio station, will handle the cotillion and has promised many interesting novelties, although the Virginia reel and two-step, will not be forgotten.

Two hundred reservations are already in and it is expected that at least 100 more will be made, assuring a goodly attendance for the association's largest social event of the year. All reservations must be in by the Tuesday preceding the event.

At the banquet, Walter W. Morris will serve as toastmaster and Earnest L. Block will introduce the seven past presidents. Presentation of a diamond studded watch charm to Past President F. F. Hopkins on behalf of the association will be made by C. O. Rosen.

Ray Blunt has been made general chairman of the reception committee while the committee on arrangements consists of K. Ray Ballantine, chairman, Mr. Block, Mr. Hopkins, Peter Zieterman and Rudolph Hartman. Edward Jacobs was forced to resign from the committee because of illness.

This week's meeting of the association promises to be a lively one, even the enthusiasm for the banquet were not inclined to create unusual interest in it. It is Past President W. R. Hepburn's day, and Dr. Hepburn is maintaining the utmost secrecy about a specialty program he is understood to have arranged.

HOST OF POPULAR RADIO ARTISTS TO BE HEARD FROM SOUTHTOWN'S NEW STATION ON OPENING NIGHT

Included on Seven-Hour Program are Police Octette, Triangle Trio, Winter Garden Four, "Nubs" Allen, Will Rossiter, Harmony Girls

"WBCN, the new station of the Southtown Economist, located in the Southtown section of Chicago, broadcasting its initial program from the Economist studio. First on the program——"

The foregoing will not have to be imagined next Saturday night, for on that evening, starting at 8 o'clock, will be broadcast the first program of the Economist's newly completed 500-watt station.

Although the complete itemized program cannot be made public at this time, due to the considerable leeway that must be allowed the more prominent figures invited to take part, there is definite assurance that the seven-hour program will be crammed with good things of almost every variety known to the radio public. There will be orchestra music, solo and group singing, individual and group instrumental playing, short talks, readings, humor, etc., and much of it will be rendered by persons well known to ether fans.

Talent Experienced

During the earlier hours most of the time will be taken up by singers, readers and players who have heard from one or more of the other Chicago stations, some of them from nearly all of the local stations.

Included among these experienced broadcasters will be "Nubs" Allen, Hazel O'Neil, Will Rossiter, Police Octette, Harmony Girls, Auburn Park Mandolin club, William H. Hunt, Triangle Trio, Winter Garden Four, James Darby, Mrs. Homer Sailor, Bobby Brady, Esther Holmes, Victor Jacobs, Robert Whinnery, Axel Christensen, Harold Johnson, Donovan and Erlich, Wally Johnson, Walter Fett and Harry Blewalters.

Some of the announcers from the older Chicago stations will be on hand after 1 a. m., coming to WBCN as soon as they complete their own programs. With them, they probably will bring some of their station's talent.

Representatives of the theatrical world are expected to get into action during the early morning hours, as some of the leading ones have been especially invited.

Studio Space Limited

Owing to the fact that space is decidedly limited, WBCN officials and the Economist regretfully announce that they will be unable to maintain "open house" on opening night, but will endeavor to take care of would-be spectators at a later date. The large number of entertainers that are necessary to fill out such an extensive bill as is being prepared for Saturday night means that all available sitting and standing room in the studio proper and adjoining rooms will be more than occupied.

For the convenience of listeners-in desiring to express approbation or disapproval, to make a request or to indicate how clearly the program is coming in, a special switchboard operator will be on duty to receive calls. Hence, all phone calls will be welcomed.

Telegrams, too—of the prepaid variety of course—will be greatly appreciated. Special arrangements have been made to take care of those who telegraph, the Western Union having decided to have two extra operators and extra messengers "on the job."

DUAL INSTALLATION

Mrs. Walter E. Troesch

Howard P. Savage, state commander of the department of Illinois, American Legion, will act as installing officer for Englewood Post, No. 61, when new officers take their places next Friday evening at a meeting to be held in the Englewood Business College building.

The Woman's auxiliary to the post will hold installation services at the same hour.

The post has departed from the usual custom and instead of being a closed session, the installation will take the form of a community program. Five hundred invitations to attend have been sent to friends and supporters of the Legion. Each member of the post has been allowed to invite as many personal friends as he desires.

The program, which starts at 8 o'clock, is in the hands of a committee of which Dr. S. Wall, retiring commander, is chairman.

Mrs. Leala M. Troesch will be installed as president of the auxiliary at the same time that her husband, Walter E. Troesch, formerly post chaplain, is made the Legion commander.

Richard Haaker will become financial officer for the post for the third time, and Carl Klaesi has been elected to his second term as adjutant. The chaplain, the Rev. Robert Zeigler, new pastor of the Park Manor Congregational church, was formerly chaplain of the Harvey post and came to the Englewood Legion by transfer. Walter E. Ricketts is senior vice-commander, Gordon Burk junior vice-commander and Joseph B. Oliver sergeant-at-arms.

The other Auxiliary officers, in addition to the president, are: First vice-president, Mrs. Carrie Vorwerk; second vice-president, Miss Annette Nevotney; secretary, Mrs. Lillian Oliver; treasurer, Mrs. Maude James; chaplain, Mrs. Laura Ricketts; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Marie Vorwerk; and historian, Mrs. Maude James.

At Friday's meeting the retiring commander, Dr. S. Wall, and DeWitt Cleland will be presented with past commanders' badges by Paul Kenny of the Forty and Eight. The O'Leary orchestra will furnish music, and the Legion Scout troop 684 will be in attendance in uniform.

Many organizations have signified intention of having representatives at the meeting including local business organizations, the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, and other Legion posts. The James A. Delano post expects to attend in a body.

KIDNAPERS TAKE $30, WATCH FROM JACKSON

Pulling his hat down over his eyes as a means of blinding him, four bandits kidnaped and robbed Charles Jackson, 7300 Emerald ave., Tuesday night. Jackson was driving his machine into a garage in the rear of 5536 Halsted st., when the bandit quartet jumped on the running board of the car and overpowered him.

He was driven to 70th and Laflin sts., robbed of his watch and $30, and then put out of the car. His automobile was recovered later in the night on the northwest side where the thieves had abandoned it after committing another holdup and escaping with their second victim's car.

ACCIDENTALLY FIRED, GUN KILLS MAN

Accidental discharge of a revolver that he was putting away Wednesday night caused the death of Walter Vanderlinder, 31 years, 6032 Carpenter st., in the German Deaconess hospital Friday morning. Vanderlinder had been out in his car, according to the police, and when he drove the machine into the garage he took from a side pocket an automatic revolver that he carried. He was putting it on a shelf when it exploded. The bullet struck him in the left side near the heart and, after puncturing his lung, passed out through his back.

He was able to make his way to the house, and his sister, with whom he made his home, called the police. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at the inquest held Saturday.

HONESTY BEST POLICY IN THIS CASE ANYWAY

If Joseph Sabata, 25, a Mexican, hadn't had a few drinks Monday night he never would have been arrested. But he did, and was. And he furnished Judge Allegretti's court with no end of fun Tuesday morning.

"Do you speak English?" the judge asked.

"Just a leetle bit," the defendant replied, illustrating by leaving about an inch space between his finger and thumb.

"But he didn't need to know English, your honor, to get a drink," the burly police sergeant interrupted.

"Do you drink mescal?" the judge shot at Joseph.

"Oh, yes," and the Mexican's face lit up like a full moon. "Si, I drink anything."

"Such frankness is refreshing," murmured the judge. "Case dismissed. Sergeant, see that he gets something to eat, will you."

IS IT FRESH?

WE have so many customers come in our store and ask that question. And most of them act kind of embarrassed after asking it. And why? Simply because they know all of our foodstuffs are fresh without asking, but they have gotten into the habit of asking at the other places they shop. If it isn't fresh, you can't get it at Swanson's.

Old the proverb—old, but true—
Age should think and youth should do.
—D. W. THOMPSON.

WBCN MAKES ITS BOW

If you own a radio receiving set, or if you have neighbors who do, indubitably you'll be tuning in on WBCN next Saturday evening when Southtown's new broadcasting station is formally opened. You'll hear a majority of Chicago's well-known radio artists assembled on one program. You'll hear some things about this Southtown district of which you are a part that may surprise you. Last but not least, listening to the program coming into your own home from Southtown's own station, through that mysterious and wonderful medium, "ether," that we have come to take in so short a time as a matter of course, and thinking, as you cannot help but think, of the hundreds of thousands of homes that may be tuning in at the same time on that same program and hearing, through it, of your Southtown district, you will appreciate more fully what the broadcasting station should mean to our Southtown.

The Southtown district is a significant part of Chicago today. Development of her resources will mean an immeasurable advancement. Attuning of the interests and ambitions of Southtown men and women to the march of progress, to a concerted effort toward development, material, cultural and spiritual, is as important as advertising our "wares"—the business and commercial advantages, the desirable schools and churches and homes, to be found in Southtown.

While WBCN should be of incalculable value in the matter of letting the world know of Southtown, Chicago's, existence, we hope, also, that through it Southtown herself may be made a more consciously coherent whole, working toward a common end.

The Economist is happy to have the privilege of instituting the district's first broadcasting station. We want both the criticisms and co-operation of the Southtown public, that our station may prove a creditable representative of our section in that great, intangible radio world that is coming more and more a thing to be reckoned with in the general scheme of things.

POLICEMAN SHOOTING

Dark early morning hours, an unmarked police car, a law abiding citizen who was badly frightened, and a volley of shots from his gun. Net results: a policeman whose family loved and needed him is dead, two others are injured, a highly respected member of the community and his family are going through a ghastly experience, and the cause of righteousness and justice and protection of the innocent—the furtherance of which was doubtless desired by every person involved in the tragedy in front of the Stewart home at 85th and Paulina sts. Saturday night—has been advanced not one whit.

Who is to blame?

Discounting the numerous hideous attacks and holdups of the past few weeks that have left the residents of that particular community in a state of terror, and the excessive excitability which Mr. Stewart undoubtedly displayed, two chief elements remain.

The automobile in which the detective squad was riding might just as well, as far as its appearance to the average individual was concerned, have carried crooks as officers of the law. The detective cars should be marked, as are the "flivvers" and the patrol wagons. Underworld inhabitants know police cars anyway. Why keep their identity from the law-abiding citizen who sees them but infrequently? Saturday's was not the first incident in Chicago where police were unwittingly opposed by those who would have their protection.

Secondly, the tragedy is a staggering argument against promiscuous gun carrying. The good citizen doubtless needs, in Chicago, to have with him a means of self protection. But how often will he, unused to a gun, shoot at the wrong time? And, even though the situation justifies the use of a gun, how often will he be able to "get the edge" on the experienced gunman?

SEASONAL SAVING

Several years ago, someone with a keen sense for popular appeal and an appreciation of possibilities in, and benefits to be derived from, more widespread systematic saving on the part of the smaller wage earners, originated the idea of Christmas savings clubs. Banks everywhere adopted it. Results here and now: in the Southtown district alone, patrons of fifteen banks deposited during 1924 $1,019,000. A tidy sum, anyone will admit. But the significance of it is not in the amount alone. Considerable of the total will go into the extra expenses incurred at the Christmas season—gifts and trees for the children, remembrances for other relatives and friends, special holiday social activities. A far larger portion, bankers tell us, will be put back into regular savings accounts or invested.

And many, many of the Christmas club savers never before had undertaken any scheme for "laying by in store." The Christmas club plan is commendable because of the fact that it encourages the habit of thrift among those who reap the most individual benefit from its cultivation, the men, women and children who must save in small amounts; in its educational aspects—the awakening of these same small earners to the possibilities for their becoming capitalists in a modest way—it may have immeasurable influence on the nation's character.

For the man with a comfortable bank account and an expectation for increasing it to the extent that he may hope for better things for his children than he himself enjoyed is not inclined toward bolshevism and red radicalism.

Thinkers and students of economic conditions differ as to what will be the ultimate result to our country of the present tendency toward the accumulation of vast wealth under individual management. That stabilization and increased well-being and happiness, both individual and general, are attained when each person develops his own adequate financial security through the acquiring of a bank account has never been disputed.

Christmas has been blamed with inducing lavish expenditures on the part of those who cannot afford them. The bankers seem to be working the matter the other way round.

And you'll like it too, we know,
Send your stuff in and LET'S GO,
Howdy ye do!

WE ARE MIGHTY PLEASED that it has fallen to our lot to inaugurate a "colyum" for THE SOUTHTOWN ECONOMIST! And we are going to try to conduct it in a manner that will measure up to the standard set by this forward-looking newspaper, and expected by the livest, most progressive community citizenship in the country! As a contributor to other columns, we know something of the joys and sorrows of a column contributor. We don't know anything about the psychology back of it all, but you certainly do get a kick out of seeing your things in print. Maybe it's a form of flattering the ego, but anyhow, it surely gives you a thrill when your wise crack, your poem or a bit of philosophy appear in cold type. There is wonderful material out here in our several neighborhoods in the way of stimulus, and we want you to come in to THE CRAZY QUILT column and truly make it yours. Are you with us?

A PHEW PHOOTBALL PUNS

CRAZY QUILT: Speaking of taking football teams for a ride, it is now rumored that there are a couple of Coaches that are not popular with two certain elevens. One of them doesn't want any Moore Coach rolling down their Lane, while the other aggregation says that if they are going to be given a Wasserman test before they can Marshall their forces by gosh, they can't Parker Coach there!

—PUNTER.

NOT A BAD IDEA, EITHER!

Oh you 63rd Street shoppers
From Elizabeth to Green,
This verse is written
That you may take warning.
For on three nights of the week
The merchants mild and meek
Will some recreation seek—
So do your shopping
Early in the morning!

On Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays
After January first
They'll lock the doors up
Sharp at Seven P. M.
So if you'll just start trying
The trick of early buying
There sure is no denying—
Life will once more be Quite livable for them!

—SIR HAMILTON PARKE.

OVERHEARD WHILE WALKING ALONG—

"—I didn't mind bein' gypped outa the 20 cents, but it was the principal of the thing!"

"—they's eight in the family and yuh jist oughta see the small wash they hang out!"

"—the butcher sent their Sunday meat to our house by mistake, an' ennybody could wear a fur coat if they was willing to starve themselves!"

"—so I told 'im naw I won't come back fer twicet as much, I'm thru, an' I left him with his mouth open."

(While passing the Peristyle in Grant Park.) "—wher are they going to finish that thing?"

—TREBRON.

"O LEAN UP AGAINST THE DARK RIVER!"

When I look in your eyes
I am struck with surprise
That we two have thus
Come together,
For I could not be true
To a fellow like you;
Your proposal I'd answer
With 'Never!"
Are you quite unaware
Of the impudent stare
Of both commoner
And rara avis?
Oh, the atmosphere blue
I'm afraid it is true
You are ostracised
Through halitosis!

—EFFIGY.

SHEIKS AND SHEBAS: Don't let Mother and Dad beat you to it with their bright ideas. We believe in catching our talent young, while the fires of youth flame high. Do your stuff now and send it in for next week's column!

THE AMERICAN HOME
(a la advertising)

(1) Young wife and silent partner discovering beauty of teeth.
(2) Deb daughter and friends lounging about her boudoir in undies.
(3) Mother and father evading discussion of halitosis.
(4) Bill arranging garter around his wing collar.
(5) Grandmother wishing that congoleum had existed in her day.
(6) Dance interrupted as guests in dinner gowns and tuxedos inspect the furnace.

Yours for traditions (no matter how young). —SLIM.

SING A SONG OF ALL-STARS!
(To be gleefully chanted to the tune of "Armenians, Portuguese and the Greeks")

On the All-Star Team
Are Antonides and Greicus and also Biehl,
So says the Tribune
And it ought to know,
For Howard Martin gives 'em a square deal!
It was all in vain
For Marshall High and Lane,
Just imagine how they feel—
And the guys that turn the trick
Were Antonides and Greicus and also Biehl!

IT HAS OFTEN been said that you may judge the worth of a column by its "last line." This being Vol. 1, No. 1, of THE CRAZY QUILT, this last line is necessarily its first one—BUT not its last!

JOURNALISTIC CONTEST FOR LOCAL HIGHS

Morgan Park high school's weekly publication, the Empehi News, and the Green and White of Parker will conduct a contest soon when staffs will be exchanged and the papers published by "journalistic teams" from the rival schools. A committee of judges chosen by the two schools will award a prize to the winner.

The challenge to Parker was made at the Illinois State High School Press association conference held at the University of Illinois November 22. Later, the Midway News, published by the University high school, will exchange staffs with the winner of the Parker-Morgan contest. Hoyt Trowbridge, editor-in-chief of the Empehi News, represented his paper at the conference.

High Students to Give Shakespearean Comedy

—Economist Photo

"The most spectacular play ever produced by Englewood high school" is the description given by Miss Margaret Froning of the Shakespearean comedy which will be presented Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings this week under her direction. Both costumes and scenery have been copied from cuts of the time in which the "Midsummer Night's Dream" was written.

Music for the production composed by Mendelssohn will be played by Charles Espenshade on the pipe organ. Before the curtain goes up on the opening scene the high school orchestra will play the overture.

ENGLEWOOD CIVIC ASSOCIATION TALKS OF INCREASE IN DUES

MORE REVENUE IS REQUIRED TO MEET ADDITIONAL LIGHTING COSTS

Increase in dues of the Englewood Commercial and Civic association was suggested by J. L. Barkey of the lighting committee at the meeting the noon of November 26 in the George B. Dow store, 338 W. 63rd st.

Additional revenue is required to finance the present clock regulation lighting system. Store illumination was formerly turned on at 7 o'clock in the evering and off at 9:30 o'clock. The establishments are lighted now for double the former period, necessitating more expense. Mr. Barkey stated there are now forty-seven people on 63rd st. paying 50 cents or less for lights. Sixteen of that number contribute but 25 cents. Receipts from the entire number total but $20.40.

Members of a committee have canvassed numerous busines men on three afternoons with Mr. Barkey. The request was made by him for appointment of a committee of fifteen members headed by Irwin Penhallegon to assist Mr. Barkey, M. D. Madigan, Harry J. Johnson and R. J. Mitchell in soliciting better co-operation on the lights payments. President Penhallegon will provide the additional committee members from the membership committee.

Discussion was devoted to the question of whether lunches should be furnished by individuals or by the association. The matter was carried over to the meeting which will be held between Christmas and New Year's.

Co-operation in getting the Southtown sewer project started was offered by Daniel Ryan, jr., a Cook county commissioner introduced to the organization by Ray Crist. Mr. Ryan spoke briefly on the need for the association to support the proposed new jail. He explained the expense of its construction will be $5,000,000, representing 2 cents on every $100 of taxes. He told the members the present Bridewell had been built since 1874, was unsuitable for occupancy and decreased property values on the north side by its location there.

Luncheon was furnished by W. F. Monahan.

WINTER SPORTS GAIN INTEREST AT OGDEN

Since the close of the football and soccer season winter sports and gymnastics have aroused considerable interest at Ogden Park. If the weather remains favorable ice skating will soon be in vogue. The children's toboggan slides have been flooded and are already in use.

The women's gymnasium instructor is organizing a girls' grammar school volley ball league at the park. Those schools which have not already done so should arrange with Miss Ellen Warner immediately if they wish to join the league. Play will begin about December 10.

Enrollment has been heavy in the business men's class which meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock. Only a few more men may join the group. Some who cannot attend during the evening have asked for an afternoon class.

The first affair of its kind in the history of Southwest district Scoutdom, a big public court of honor will be held at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening, December 12, at the Hamilton park fieldhouse. J. K. Sokolik will be in charge of the ceremony.

The Scout moving picture, a two-reel feature film depicting Scout life taken last summer at Camp Owasippe with Scout William Lain of the Southwest district in the stellar role, will be shown. Scout Lain is a member of Troop 610 of St. Bartholomew's church and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Van V. Lain, 326 W. 61th st. There will also be music and singing.

Four merit badges will be accepted, as the court of honor was not held during November. Friday night was chosen because many troops hold their weekly meetings that evening and will be free to attend the court in a group.

Scouts have been asked to inform their fellow members of the rules which will govern the court of honor. No scout can receive his certificate unless he appears personally. All applications, properly signed, must be in the district office by December 8. Certificates will not be issued for applications presented at the court. No Scout can qualify there unless he is first class and registered in good standing at that date.

CHARGE STORE KEEPER ANNOYED CHILDREN

Alleged to have annoyed children while intoxicated in his candy store at 324 W. 69th st. Thursday, Edward Hogan, 42 years old, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct by the Englewood police.

C. W. Balch, 7030 Stewart ave., father of one of the children who claimed that Hogan offered them candy and attempted to entice them into the store, testified in the Grand Crossing court.

Judge Francis B. Allegretti continued the case and ordered that Hogan be taken to the Psychopathic hospital for examination.

Arrangements are being made this week for the Auburn Lions Boys' band to give a program for the entertainment of Oak Forest inmates in the near future.

PURPLE CLOSES SWIM PRACTICE WITH VICTORY

Defeat of Lane Makes Englewood Strong Entry in County Meet

Two prep swim records were unofficially broken Wednesday in the Englewood high school tank when the Purple natators defeated Lane, 40 to 28, in the final practice clash before the Cook county meet Saturday. Kenneth Sinclair, the heavyweight plunger from Englewood sent the record for his pet event by the boards when he plunged the sixty-foot tank in 29 4-5 second time, which is far under the senior mark of 36 seconds. Sinclair now holds the junior record for the event at 35 2-5 and has consistently equalled the new mark in practice.

Englewood's six man relay team also chalked up a mark in the event at 2:08 3-5 that is below the official record.

Indications were yesterday that Englewood would have the heaviest entry in the county prep swimming meet to be held under the auspices of the I. A. C. in the loop club's tank Saturday. In view of the fact that the Purple senior natators have decisively defeated all the school teams they have met in practice makes them loom as the most formidable contenders for team honors. Lane was considered the Purple's strongest foe among the Chicago schools but the score of Wednesday's meet shows that Coach Roy E. Quant's boys have nothing to fear from the north side Techs.

A summary of the score on the meets staged so far this season between Englewood and other city schools point out that the Purple tankers are in excellent form. The scores are as follows: Englewood, 53; Lindblom, 33; Englewood, 62; Harrison, 33; Englewood, 45; Lake View, 19; Englewood, 52; Senn, 43.

Crooks Walker and Knox, in addition to Sinclair have splashed their favorite events in excellent time undoubtedly will be among the point-gatherers

Following is the summary of the Englewood-Lane meet:

W. BRUCK TAKES LEAD AS STANDINGS CHANGE IN KAY-BEE LEAGUE

AMERICAN EXPRESSMEN WIN THIRD GAME OF SEASON

W. Bruck took the individual lead in the Kay-Bee bowling circuit last week but "Duke" Quinliven remained secure in the runnerup position as Henning, the former pace-setter slid down to the third notch. Hudson tumbled down to sixth place while Brown and G. Bruck stayed firm.

Bill Bivens and his Rydell Clothers walloped the Art Cleaners for two games and routed them from second place. The City Furniture quintet exhibited a classy brand of pin toppling and took the odd game from the leading Continental Restaurant. This allowed the team to take the place left vacant by the Cleaners.

The surprise of the evening was a one game win by the American Expressmen over "Score Book" Walsh's five by a meager margin of two pins. It was the Expressmen's third victory in thirty-three starts and it appears as if they are mired in the cellar for the rest of the season.

Buckley, 211; Dunmace, 225; Kroft, 216; and Butler, 220; made up the quartet that walked off with the buck prizes.

The Rev. John Egney turned in the high score of 246 in the Thanksgiving day bowling and walked off with the turkey offered as a prize.

The Henning Quinliven team won first and second places in the two-man tournament with scores of 1270 and 1241 and Henning was paired with Willete on the team that won third honors with a score of 1235. Fridell and Mahoney were fourth with 1216 and Wolf and Donohue came in fifth with 1209. Henning and Quinliven rolled the high game of 470.

The Job of Being A Dad

By FRANK H. CHELEY
President Father and Son League of America

WHEN A BOY GOES BAD A GOOD MAN DIES

And there is a reason, because every boy has not only the inalienable right to be well born, but also the inalienable right to a normal all-around development—physically, mentally, socially and spiritually. We are providing in a fair way for the first two mentioned, but the latter two, we have, to a very large extent, disregarded. Result, a lopsided, ineffectual type of young manhood, unequal to the tremendous tasks of the new day.

Child training is the most important matter before the nation. At present we are giving more thorough attention to stock raising and vegetable gardening than to child study. Boy training is a science that millions of men as actual fathers or as fathers-to-be must master if we are to turn out men equal in quality to our food products, our merchandise, and our machinery.

We know positively, both from observation and practice, that it is easier and better to form than to reform, and yet we continue to put the emphasis on reformation. America has many problems before her, which she must solve to live, and not least among them is the problem of creating, maintaining and extending more normal growth and developing mental conditions for boys. Such a thing, however, will only be possible when fathers everywhere understand and appreciate the true significance of environment and unitedly create sentiment for better conditions.

At present Mr. Jones becomes a "foremost citizen" if he develops a finer type of seed corn, a better pair of shoes, or a more efficient automobile. The sort of a son that he gives the world is a secondary matter. Yet it is a more simple thing to develop even a very highly complicated machine that it is to "develop" a superb, all-around boy.

We have not begun, as yet, in America to turn out the best possible crop of boys and we never will until fathers everywhere unite in an active partnership of mutual sympathy and understanding to help every boy "become" an American, developed to the maximum of the fourfold ideal.

The next decade should see gigantic strides on the part of all homes in the science of making high-class men from the raw material of boyhood. I saw on a father's desk the other day a simple inscription that kept that busy executive constantly reminded of his responsibility, not only to his own son but to all boy life about him. It read:

"EVERY TIME A BOY GOES BAD A GOOD MAN DIES."

The American home can prevent this most tragic of all mortality. "Every time a boy goes bad a good man dies"—an embyro statesman, executive, preacher, president, in the making dies, because dads everywhere are perfectly content to continue their policy of turning out ordinary boys.

Running wild upon the completion of passes, Bloch's Triangles scored a 26 to 0 victory over the Madonna Boosters Sunday. FUMBLES COSTLY AS TILDEN BOWS TO DETROITERS

Safety Constitutes Margin of of Victory for East High

Robbed of chances to score three times by fumbles, Tilden lo . to East high, prep champions of Detroit, by a score of 2 to 0 in an intercity clash at the motor city Thanksgiving day. The game promised to be the first of a series of annual clashes between the schools.

A safety, scored early in the second period when one of the Yellowjackets' punts was blocked, gave the Indians the points for victory. During the first half the teams appeared evenly matched. Neither eleven was able to gain much ground by the use of straight plays, and an occasional end run was the only thing that enabled the teams to make first downs. Most of the session was a punting duel, with Lutz having an advantage over the booter of the East Indians.

East high kicked to Tilden's twelve-yard line at the start of the second half. Then Coach Berger's eleven opened up a brand of play that completely dazzled the Detroiters. The Yellowjackets made two first downs in rapid succession, but were stopped in their third attempt for yardage and were forced to punt. The home squad failed to gain ground and kicked back to the visitors on the fifty-yard line. Tilden started a goal-ward march, and when the locals were ten yards from the line Lutz tossed a forward behind the goal posts that went astray.

Again the Indians punted to the middle of the field, and Tilden started to march back. East high retreated, and the Yellowjackets made first downs four times.

A touchdown seemed a certainty when Tilden reached the one-yard line and had two downs to make the distance. Here the first of the fumbles ruined the Techs' chances.

Undaunted, the Yellowjackets kept plugging at their foes' line and again marched to a point within three feet of East high's goal Again a fumble stopped them. The final minutes of the game were passing and the Techs were playing desperately in an effort to overcome their opponents' slim lead.

PERFECT FREE THROWS ENABLE ENGLEWOOD K. C. CAGERS TO WIN

HOEY COUNTS ONLY FLOOR GOALS BUT MATES SCORE ON FOES' BOBBLES

Successful in every one of their ten chances to score on free throws, Englewood council trimmed Aquinas, 16 to 14, in a Knights of Columbus basketball game at the Eighth Regiment armory Sunday. The game was witnessed by some 1,200 cage followers.

Englewood led, 8 to 5, at half time but as the game neared a close Aquinas was going strong and Englewood had to resort to its best defense in order to keep ahead of the foes. Hoey was the only Englewood player able to reach the basket from the court, and his three baskets would not have been enough had not his mates backed him up with successful free tossing. J. Murphy and Nash played a remarkable game for Aquinas.

PARKER'S STARS OUT, DANVILLE RALLIES TO WIN

Locals Slim Lead Overcome When Subs Are Sent in; Score 19-7

Staging a fourth quarter rally when Parker's stars were put out because of injuries, the Danville, Ill., high eleven trimmed the Green and White gridders, 19 to 7, in Danville Thanksgiving day. It was the first time this season that Danville had been held scoreless during the first half

Parker's lone touchdown was made early in the first quarter. Danville received the kickoff, and by three first downs reached midfield. Coach Wasserman's boys held the other team on the fifty-yard line and forced them to punt. Due to Gustavel's crashes through the line, mixed in with some forwards, Parker made four first downs in a row and, on a pass from Gustavel to Lutz, scored. Erickson made the kick for the extra point. Neither team had an advantage during the remainder of the half.

Danville Scores

After an exchange of punts at the start of the third quarter a forward pass, Whitlock to Marshall, put the ball on Parker's thirty-five yard line. On the fourth down from this point Arnholt crashed across the line. As the kick for the extra point was missed, Parker led, 7 to 6, when the final session started.

Gustavel, Ferner and Vanberschot were forced to leave the game on account of injuries, weakening the Green and White defense. Sieloff went in at center and allowed Danville to get the ball on a poor pass. Immediately after gaining possession of the pigskin, Leverenz, the Danville fullback, shot a long pass to Whitlock, which resulted in Danville's second touchdown.

Sieloff pulled another boner at the center berth a few minutes later, and again the Danville team gained the oval in an advantageous position. Whitlock went over on straight plays for the final counter and also made the point afterwards.

THOMPSON ELECTED PURPLE GRID CAPTAIN

William "Hoppe" Thompson, center, was unanimously elected captain of the Englewood high school football team for the 1925 season. Injuries and illness kept Thompson out of all the Purple's league games and he was greatly missed from the lineup as during the practice tilts and in last season's play he showed spectacular form in holding the line and snapping the ball. Letters for members of the team will be awarded this week according to Coach "Chuck" Palmer.

EVANS MAKES GOOD ON COLUMBIA COLLEGE 11

Andy Evans, 6447 Bishop st., captain of the 1923 St. Rita's high school team is making good as guard on Coach Eddie Anderson's Columbia college outfit, which finished its season by winning the football championship of the Western Interstate conference and tying for the Catholic college title and the Iowa state football championship.

Evans, a 210-pound guard, has played more quarters than any other guard on the team except Gallen Thomas and Fred Schwind, Coach Anderson's two regulars. He substituted for Thomas in the Luther college game on Thanksgiving day and played in bang-up style for more than two quarters. When Coach Anderson sent his second string men against De Paul university early this season Evans was acting captain of the team. Other St. Rita's high school products on the squad are Frank Mulcahy, guard, and Tom McGuire, halfback and end. The Rev. Harry Long, a former St. Rita's high school and Columbia college athlete will join the faculty of Columbia Academy next year.

TITLE AT STAKE IN PANTHER-HARVEY TILT

Nothing but a blizzard can prevent the big football game next Sunday at 115th and Halsted sts., where the Pullman-Roseland Panthers meet Harvey (Ill.) in a battle for far south side supremacy. After considerable wrangling during the year these two bitter rivals got together and arranged for this classic to be played next Sunday, which will wind up the season for both teams. From all indications one of the largest crowds of the season will see the elevens go into action at 2 p. m.

Harvey and the Panthers are evenly matched in playing strength, and the coaches of each team have been pointing their respective squads all season for this important game. Coach Voss, formerly of Notre Dame, depends on Paul Fisk, former P. N. T. star, and Steve Couchie, of Illinois U., to carry Harvey through to victory; while the Panthers have Sparrey, Gaylord and Lindstrom primed for this important struggle.

Over 1,000 Harvey fans will accompany their team for this game and whoop it up for their favorites, while the Panthers will have the solid backing of Pullman-Roseland fans.

HORSESHOE CHAMPS ENTER STATE MEET

Other Ogden Park men who will compete in the state meet at Grant Park on December 13 are Paul Bejeck, Dan Cooper, Herman Simonds, John Leonard, Leonard Brophy, Arthur Noll and J. J. McInerney.

McKINLEY PARK FIVE LOSES TO ROAMERS BY TOPHEAVY SCORE

LOSERS' HELD TO SINGLE BASKET IN SECOND QUARTER

Cornell Roamers added another win to their record Saturday by swamping the McKinley Park lights under a 27 to 14 score. Up to three minutes before half time the game was a nip-and-tuck affair but then the Roamers hit their stride and started to pile up the winning count.

Maher opened the scoring by dropping in a field goal for McKinley but the Roamers came right back when the combination of Smith to Anderson netted a basket from the floor. The quarter ended with the Roamers ahead by the narrow margin of 9 to 8. Throughout the first part of the second quarter the score remained tight but just before the session closed the Roamers began to find the basket. The McKinley five was shut out during the third period and the Roamers kept piling up the total until they were beyond the reach of their opponents.

Moellering, Anderson, Smith and Richardson led the offense for the victors in the early stages of the game and Dahl and Larkin kept things going when they went in during the second half. Clever defensive work by Stock and Peterson held the losers to one basket in the last two periods. Riordan and Baker did most of the work for the McKinley squad.

ACE ARROWS WIN IN LAST MINUTE OF PLAY

By the margin of the point gained after touchdown in the last minute of play the Ace Arrows defeated the Fullerton Indians, 13 to 12, in a game Sunday that marked the close of the season for both teams. The Arrows were trailing as the time for the final whistle neared but had their foes pressed back to their own five-yard line. A bad pass from center sent the ball rolling behind the goal posts and Fitzgibbons, the Arrows' center fell upon the pig-skin for the touchdown. This tied the score and Wagner made the winning point by his perfect kick.

Paris, Nov. 19.—"There's nothing new under the sun," says old Gloomy Sides, but if we cannot altogether contradict the statement, we can point out there are new and fascinating ways of presenting old things.

Look at today's model and what do you see?—a hint of a Chinese jacket. Even if Chinese things are almost as old as the hills—and most of them are—there is nothing in this to prove they are not lovely. Indeed, quite the contrary, for they have lasted so long; 1924—for all her modern ideas—is not above looking to old China for many suggestions this season, and if she takes a few liberties with them she may be excused, for on the whole she takes them artistically.

He who sang, "For East Is East and West Is West," etc., had evidently not reckoned with the dressmakers. In the fashion world this season East is continually meeting West. For our chic model Charlotte allows a Chinese jacket of black vegetable panne not only to meet, but merge into Venetian lace with a most happy result. Edging the lace is squirrel tail. An underslip of black satin has "point de venise" at the top. To hold the overdress in place is a diamond and jet clasp.

LOOK YOUR BEST

BY MARGARET MAGNUS

GOOD LOOKS FROM ABROAD

A recent Paris letter from one of our well known beauty correspondents was so interesting to me that I decided to pass its contents along to my readers, for I believe any woman would enjoy it and benefit by it.

She begins her letter by telling about hair cuts in Paris. She says that the women over there who have cut their hair have surely gone to the extreme in affecting the "boyish" appearance. Most of them have had the back shaved close to the skull with the exception of the top layer which reaches down to the nape of the neck. A hairdressing liquid is used on it to make it stick to the head and no curling is done on this back hair at all. The waving of the sides and top is done in such a way that the waves are soft and far apart and does not prevent the hair from lying flat to the head. The ends are merely curved under. No one would be guilty of the least "kink" or "frizz." Another extreme style is to have the hair combed and brushed back perfectly sleek and straight from the face, exposing forhead, neck and ears mercilessly. This is extremely "mannish" and hard to wear. Of course, all of these modes are for the matured and the older women. The debs and "younger marrieds" still affect soft curls and ordinary "bobs" and are even discarding the "shingle" entirely to get back to a more feminine appearance.

Those who still have long hair (and they are much more numerous abroad than here) are wearing it in styles which emulate the "bob." One very good style is to part it in the center and make flat braids which cross in the back and are coiled on the ears. This gives the much-desired "flat" appearance in the back and is very trim and neat. Quite a few young girls are wearing it parted straight through the center and done in two flat knots, either braided or rolled, one over each ear.

The restraint that marks the coiffures is also being shown in the use of cosmetics. Rouge is being used very sparingly and much more cleverly than heretofore—it is applied so skillfully as to be hardly noticeable. Lipstick, however, is in great favor and dark women use it a great deal, without rouge, and with very good results. However, they do use it well and one never sees a daubed, messy looking mouth—on the contrary, it is used very artistically. Women are becoming daily more fussy as to the correct shade, of powder, rouge and lipstick to use and insist upon getting their own particular shade. The deep brown powder is not so much in favor as formerly but a lovely lavender tone now has the ascendancy and is very well liked for evening wear.

Styles in perfumes change just as everything else does and at present the women are drifting away from the heavy, exotic odors and returning to the sweet, flowery, scents. bath salts and bath perfumes are all made in these scents and are most refreshing. Most women over here are very consistent about their perfumes and want their soaps, talcums and bath salts etc, of the same brand and odor.

ANSWERS

Wilhemina—The solution to your problem is a transformation to wear when you go on the street or entertain company. In the meantime, have scalp treatments which will make your hair grow fast and in a short time you will be rid of all your old discolored dyed hair. Many women have their own hair shaved tight to the head wear a transformation while the new hair is growing in. I have seen one or two instances where the new hair came in naturally curly and very luxuriant.

Fruit Cake

Mrs. Edward Vonderheid, 5330 Laflin st., vouches for this fruit cake recipe, which she has used for years. It is delicious, she writes, and will keep twelve months.

The ingredients are 1 pound butter, 1 dozen eggs, 2 pounds sugar, 1 teacup molasses, 1 large cup wine or brandy, 5 cups flour, 5 level teaspoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 tablespoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon mace, 1 pound raisins, 1 pound figs, 1 pound currants, 1 pound citron, ¼ pound lemon peel, ¼ pound orange peel, 1 pound walnut meats, 1 pound cherries, 1 pound pineapple cut in large pieces. Add vanila and lemon juice. Cream butter and sugar. Add the well beaten eggs, then the molasses and wine or brandy. Mix dry ingredients and add to the mixture. Add fruit, nuts and flavoring. Bake two hours in oven over very low fire.

Yeast Coffee Cake

Bakeries and delicatessen shops may flourish, but the home cook still bakes bread and pastries in many fortunate families. Mrs. George von der Linden, 10106 Seeley ave., makes coffee cake as follows:

One cup water, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cake yeast, flour, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 egg, lemon juice and nutmeg to flavor.

Make a soft sponge with water, yeast and 1½ cups flour. Cover and set in warm place to rise until light. Add remaining ingredients, using sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Let rise until double its bulk. Roll out put in greased pans. Let rise until light, moisten top with cream, cover with sugar and cinnamon and bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes or until done.

This recipe will make four loaves baked in layer cake pans. Fruits, such as apples, cherries, grapes or peaches may be put on top before dough is allowed to rise in pans.

Cabbage Roll

Sauer kraut, an old time favorite with many people, served with meat makes the basis of a substantial meal. Mrs. William Westenberger, 5658 Hermitage ave., uses a meat mixture with cabbage and kraut.

Cut out core of medium sized cabbage head, soak in boiling water a few minutes to make leaves less brittle. Roll a portion of meat mixture in each leaf. This is made from 2 pounds chopped beef, ½ cup rice, 1 onion, salt and pepper.

Place rolls in a kettle of sauer kraut that has been boiling 20 minutes; continue boiling about ¾ hour. To 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon four and ½ can tomato soup add the juice of sauer kraut and boil a few minutes. Pour sauce over the kraut and simmer for a few minutes before serving.

YOUR HOME'S INTERIOR

(What decorating problem troubles you? Is it the curtaining of an ill-proportioned window or the placing of a tapestry? Refer your perplexities to the conductor of this column whose attention will be promptly given them.

TREATMENT OF MODERN WINDOWS

G. M. Tencate

Every housekeper at some time must consider the decorative treatment of windows in her home. As in all other furnishings, there arises the need for new window decorations. The problem is also present when one builds a new home.

We are appreciative these days of light and air, therefore windows are numerous in the modern home, and from them the decoration of the rooms starts. There are various types to be considered, short and broad, long and narrow, low, high, single, group, bay or casement, and each must have the treatment specifically adapted to its style.

Utilitarian and decorative missions are served by curtains. Thin curtains made of soft transparent material, like lace or gauze, hung in soft folds, eliminate the bareness of the glass and soften the light as it enters the room. They screen the private life of the family from the gaze of the curious passerby. Not the least in importance is the effect of the curtains from the outside.

Different rooms should, of course, have different curtains on the windows. The living room with French windows, for instance, may be curtained with soft silk marquisette or gauze in a neutral shade of ecru or dark gold, hung taut on top and bottom rods, leaving a space between each curtain to emphasize the beauty of that type of window.

Lace curtains with fringe at the bottom are now very popular for dining room windows. These are obtainable in silk or cotton and are both cheerful and decorative.

Bedroom curtains may be of sheer ruffled material, tied back. A valance of some colored silk with tiebacks of that material for the ruffled curtains will add much to the attractiveness of the bedroom, giving it an airy and dainty appearance, which are primary requisites.

START NEW BUILDING AT 74TH AND HALSTED

Work was started last week at the southwest corner of 74th and Halsted sts. to excavate there for a building to be erected at once by Tom Kamberos, who conducts a grocery store at 4212 Cottage Grove ave.

He purchased the site some time ago and digging was started. Lack of finances caused him to halt his building program. It is his plan to construct a two-story white brick building to accommodate eight stores, seven offices and six flats. He has not yet decided if he will locate his own business there. The building will cost approximately $19,000 and will be completed by May, 1925. Larson and Nelson are the contractors. It will have entrances on both streets.

FORESIGHT vs "HINDSIGHT"

Have you ever stopped to think that money is made on Foresight and money is lost on "hindsight"? The man who can look ahead is the man with a bank account. The man who sees possibilities only after they have matured is the man who might have made money but who didn't. The man who buys wheat just before it goes up reaps the harvest. The one who sees the advance only after it has taken place can't capitalize on it.

ELMER JORDAN & CO. HAVE FORESIGHT

and that's why they have been located at Western Avenue for so many years. They saw the possibilities.

Single garages for rent.....$8

Seven stores for rent on Kedzie Ave., 63rd to 64th St., the new business center. Forty-one flats being erected in this one block right now.

In 1914 they moved their main office from 63rd and Paulina to 63rd and Western Ave. Mr. Jordan felt that Marquette Manor would provide the best field of operation on the south side. He realized that the working men and business men must have the opportunity to purchase brick homes at reasonable prices. His fondest hopes have been exceeded five times over, for his firm sold $5,000,000 in 1923 and so far in 1924 over $5,500,000 worth of real estate.

The remarkable growth of this district in the past ten years has proven that our faith, our foresight, our prediction, were well founded. Furthermore, it would seem as though this corner was just well started. The opening of the Highway Theatre this week is just another evidence of the fact that the future will be even brighter than the past. The growth should be more rapid—the foundation more secure.

This same foresight that was largely responsible for our present location has been further evidenced in the investments this concern has made—both with its own money and with the money of its customers. Every day we are making deals for customers that are making them money—making it almost overnight. And here is the real secret of it—

Through years of experience this concern has developed that sense of foresight that has made possible the making of money;

and—

Through the conscientious desire of serving our customers best we apply that same sense of foresight to their purchases that we would to our own.

You Can Capitalize on Jordan & Co.'s Foresight

This foresight is yours when you buy from us. It is ours through years of experience—years of hard work, years of ups and downs. It can be yours for nothing. It is thrown in with our service. It is absolutely FREE. If you are thinking of buying real estate, come in and see what we have. Capitalize on our foresight. You will be ahead. It will make you money.

The two policemen injured when a third was killed Saturday night by Hugh Stewart, who mistook the detective squad for a bandit automobile. The picture was taken at the Auburn Park hospital where the men were taken for treatment. Officer Frank Warburton is in the foreground, Nurse Mary Roseman between the cots, and Officer Dave Von Booven, at back.

BELIEVED OFFICER CROOK; SLAYS HIM

not have sought safety in his home in time to evade the auto, if it contained bandits, Stewart replied he was too excited to try. He was represented at the inquest by Attorney Messina of the Charles Deneen law firm.

"My one thought when that car drew up beside mine, was that my wife might be harmed. I resolved to save her if I lost my own life, and shot into what proved to be the police car. No gong was sounded when they approached me and they failed to make their identity as policemen known."

"Couldn't Use Fire Sirens"

He was interrupted by Chief of Detectives Stege, who wanted to know if he thought police could effect an arrest if they traveled with fire department sirens.

Davis was asked by Chief Stege if he had obtained a permit to keep a gun in his home. He replied to the contrary.

Mrs. Hannah Eby and her son, Bernard, who live at 8514 Paulina st., said they had been listening to the radio in the evening. The mother was about to retire when four shots were heard. She bolted the door fearing a burglary. The son was "listening in" when his attention was attracted to the shooting. Neither heard the police gong, they stated.

Hiram Nichols, 8524 Paulina st., said he was roused from bed by the shots and hurried barefoot into the street where pandemonium reigned among the police and the Stewarts, none of whom could explain what had happened. He asked one of the injured policemen if it was a "stick-up."

His response was, "No, just a man that got excited with a gun!" Nichols returned to the house and called the police. Stanley Mulree, 1506 W. 103rd st., and Charles Polzin, 8039 Loomis st., were among the first to respond.

Few Street Lights

"Police from Gresham adjusted matters at once and cleared up the situation," said Mr. Nichols. "I do not blame the squad men for their dazed condition, nor Stewart for his course of action. Our neighborhood is lighted by a little candle on 86th st. Autos have been stolen sixty feet from my door on two occasions. My pet hobby is keeping my neighborhood safe. If police officials want to avoid such a miserable mess of mistaken identity, let them give us more protection and more lights and Chicago will not be in a state of barbarity that necessitates a man going forth from home with an armory as in mediaeval ages."

His recommendations were greeted by a storm of applause from bank officials, clergymen, and other residents of Auburn Park and West Englewood who filled the morgue to capacity.

Mrs. Stewart, an expectant mother, was called upon as a witness but was excused from the ordeal of questioning. She had spent the morning at Gresham station with her husband, who was held there pending the inquest. Her typewritten statement was substituted.

Close relatives of the dead policemen were present at the inquest. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Perrin, 7036 Lowe ave., his wife, a small son, John, three brothers, John E., and Edward and Frank Perrin and a sister Mrs. Anna Kerrigan.

He was 28 years old and was a former soldier. Officer Perrin had been attached to Gresham station two years. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday from the home of his parents to St. Bernard's church. Burial will be in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

OBITUARY

Michael Farrell

Funeral services for Michael Farrell, 7029 Michigan ave., police officer of the Grand Crossing station, who was fatally injured Sunday evening, November 16, were held Thursday, November 20, at St. Columbanus' church. Other priests present were Fathers William P. Long, J. A. Hynes, J. McKeon, D. Tuohy, C. F. Meade, F. Walsh, F. Malley Dennis O'Brien and F. McCarthy.

At Mt. Olivet cemetery the priests sang the "Benedictus" preceding interment of the body.

Farrell was struck by a street car at 73rd and State sts. as he was traveling his beat at 10:30 Sunday evening November 16. He died twelve hours later at St. Bernard's hospital with his wife and children at his side. He was born in Ireland about fifty years ago and came to America thirty years ago. Father McDonough of St. Columbanus' church conducted the funeral Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock after which burial was made at Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Mary O'Connor Barnicle, he leaves two sons, Thomas and Edward, and the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Mary Skinner, Miss Elizabeth Barnicle, Mrs. Sadie Riese, M. J. RYDER PUPILS TO SING OVER RADIO AT KYW

Selections from the Christmas pageant to be presented by seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Ryder school, 8716 Wallace st, will be sung over the radio from the KYW studio Wednesday.

Mrs. Hazel Anderson-Henning, musical director for those grades, will conduct the songs. Mrs. Minnie M Tallman, Ryder principal, will accompany the students

It being International Radio Week, we decided to remain up until the wee small hours and pluck a few foreign stations out of the trans-Atlantic ozone.

When the appointed hour came for all American stations to close up shop for the evening, we were agog with excitement, expecting to be overwhelmed with a flood of German, French, the English variety of English, Dutch, Bulgarian, Patagonian and what have you. We even bit a twelve-and-a-half-cent cigar in two in our eagerness, and had to spend much of our time the rest of the evening aiming at the cuspidor—being economically inclined as we are.

After plenty of dexterous maneuvering of the dials, we began to hear those encouraging whistles and whines that nearly always are the fore-runners of a station. A few more touches and behold! we brought in (on the headphones, of course) a conglomeration of scrambled language that immediately convinced us we had corralled either Przmzyl or Czrynstyoprsk—probably the latter. Just as we were convinced it was the latter, we heard a louder and more distinct voice shout: "Andy, why don't you listen to our little son? He's been trying to tell you he wants to listen in, too." Alas! Another illusion busted.

Wild with enthusiasm, we monkeyed around until we brought in APE, the leading station of the Congo region in Central Africa. The program here, we mistakenly judged, was a meeting of the Lions club. The basis for this premature conclusion was the command, "Roar, lions, roar!", which we heard distinctly. In the mane though we were wrong as the commanding voice proved later to belong to a lion-tamer on duty at the Carl Hagenbeck Lion factory, a branch of the main plant at Lyons, France. (You may think all this is a little lyin', but not so).

The ex-Pectorate of Spitzbergen was on the bill at the Swiss naval station, UST, and a very good talk he made. Static interrupted us several times, but we gathered that the Swiss people are having more trouble than usual this year putting holes in Swiss cheese, owing to a shortage of punch presses.

Another station that interested us greatly was EAT, Hamburg, which is linked with the Bologne and Frankfort stations. It was a meaty program we listened to, but it came in a little choppy. Not having much at steak, we tarried long and were rewarded by hearing someone recite several poems by Bacon.

Upon capturing WUT4, located at Water-on-the-Brain, England, we heard U. S. Ambassador Hotelle relating a joke to an assemblage of banqueting Britishers. Just a fraction of a second after the ambassador revealed the point of his joke, WUT4 faded out—rather, we thought it did, for we heard nothing for about five minutes. Then, suddenly, loud guffaws of laughter were heard, and we knew we still had England.

It was getting late, so we tried for only one more station. The one we brought in was 2FAT, the official broadcaster of Greece. The talent we heard was a group of singers who yodeled something about why Greece should cook Turkey's hash for the way the Turkish government had been reacting the Greek government. The way the group sang the song, we concluded they were fairly boiling over with wrath. Strange to say, Doc Cook was not one of the singers.

We thought we had got our last foreign station that night, but just then the wife handed us the telephone receiver and ordered us to tune in on our Czecho-Slovakian janitor, who in Czecho-Slovakian English, asked if we'd care if he took our Swedish cook to a Russian ball at a Chinese cafe on the anniversary of Ecuador's independence.

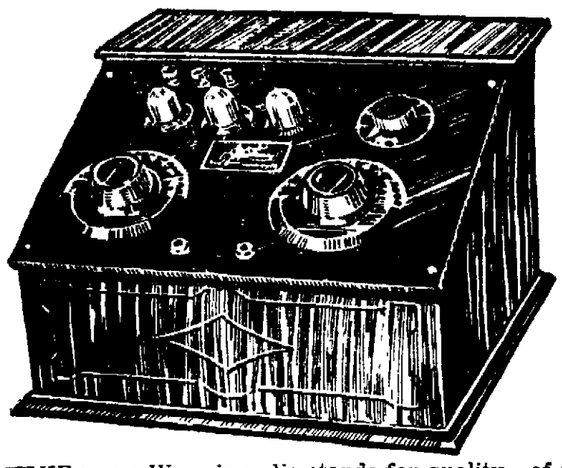
Quite a Scare

The author of the report that a letter carrier was arrested in Philadelphia recently, suspected of being a Confederate spy, is at work again. He asserts that when the Zeppelin ZR-3 arrived in this country, half the population of Quakertown took to their cellars.—Life.

The Auburn Park Mandolin club, shown here, has been added to the inaugural program at WBCN, and will be an early feature Saturday night. Like most of the other artists on the opening bill, the club has broadcast from other Chicago stations.

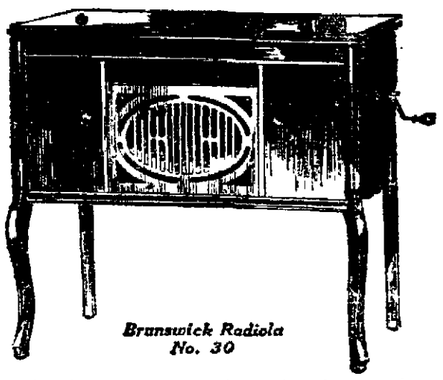
The personnel of the club is: George E. Kappelman and J. T. Goltz, first mandolins; E. A. Tidlund, second mandolin; W. C. Reynolds and A. Guentner, guitar.

Ware NEUTRODYNE Receivers $65.00



THE name Ware in radio stands for quality—of materials, of craftsmanship, of performance.
The tone quality is startlingly realistic. Speech and music are transmitted to the hearer with such quality as to convey the impression that speaker or musician is present.
Owing to the fact that the Ware Type T has but two tuning dials, its simplicity of tuning is extraordinary. It need only to be operated for this fact to make itself apparent.
It has a remarkable degree of sensitivity, and will bring in distant stations clearly and distinctly. After you once record the setting of the right hand dial for any particular station, that station may always be tuned in at the same setting.

Brunswick Radiola



Brunswick Radiola No. 30

A feature of this receiver is the selective tuning adjustment which enables the operator to select one of a group of local stations without overlapping.
Another feature of the Brunswick Radiola No. 30 is in the provision made for the addition of a Radiola balanced amplifier (a two-tube improved unit of the "push-pull" type). The balanced amplifier, together with its accessories, may be added to the Brunswick Radiola No. 30 at any time for an exceptionally reasonable cost.

B. L. A. BOOKS MANY RADIO ARTISTS FOR MEETINGS THIS WEEK

WILL ROSSITER, FLORENCE WHITE, PHIL FLEMING INCLUDED ON BIG PROGRAM

If all the radio artists that have promised to perform at this week's Broadcast Listeners' association meeting at the Hamilton park fieldhouse keep to schedule, the radio fans who sit in at the session will be given one of the treats of the season, according to President F. H. McDonald.

On the program for Wednesday night are the following well known artists: Will Rossiter, song-writer and soloist, who will sing "I Didn't Know," "Waiting for You," and other hits of his; Florence K. White, dramatic concert soprano (accompanied by Martha Mayer, official accompanist for Station WLS); Phil Fleming, originator of the "How Do You Do" song, who will present some new verses for this number, as well as sing other pieces; Charles Oeffler of the Duncan Sisters song-publishing organization, who is to offer "I'm Smiling Through My Tears," "Promise," "Moonlight and You," and some other new numbers; Walter Peterson, the "Kentucky Wonder Bean," of the WLS staff, who is slated for some of his "yodeling" and popular songs; Edward F. Duskis, technical expert from a large radio manufacturing concern, who will talk on his firm's products. Mr. Duskis will have several assistants "on the job."

The B. L. A., which did not meet last week because of Thanksgiving day, will start this week's meeting, as usual, at 8 o'clock sharp. There is no charge for admission, and all are welcome. The Hamilton park fieldhouse is located at 72nd st. and Normal blvd.

RADIO PIONEER WILL TELL EXPERIENCES TO CHICAGO RADIO ASS'N

DR. PRATT, VACUUM TUBE INVENTOR, TO DELIVER FEATURE TALK OF MEETING

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Chicago Radio association, to be held at the Ogden park fieldhouse on Thursday night, will have for its feature a talk by Dr. H. Preston Pratt, one of the pioneers of the radio industry.

Dr. Pratt, who invented the Pratt vacuum tubes, will tell of his experiences in 1876, when he first introduced a vacuum tube, and in 1897, when more of his tube innovations were brought out.

In 1899, according to Dr. Pratt, who claims to have copies of the Chicago Daily News of that year confirming his assertions he met with success in efforts to telephone without wires. It is claimed that there were at least 25 witnesses to this feat.

William A. Vandermeulen, representative of a radio manufacturer, will deliver a lecture on a five-tube non-oscillating receiver, and another well known electrical engineer will speak on audio frequency transformers. Alfred Tweed, C. R. A. harmonica and guitar entertainer, will furnish the entertainment.

Following is a schedule of the next half-dozen C. R. A. meetings: December 4, December 18, January 8, January 22, February 5, February 19.

A play, "The Smith Mystery," written by Louise Wilson, will also be presented. The characters are "Miss Jessie Smith," Mell Willis; "Miss Rosina Smith," Helen Sumner; "Miss Pauline Smith," Dorothy Christianson.

MAN IS KILLED WHEN MACHINE OVERTURNS

Richard Wilbur, 9817 Hoyne ave., was killed late Saturday afternoon and G. Padden, 3324 W. 63rd st., received serious injuries when Padden's automobile in which they were driving overturned at 147th st. and Ridgeland ave. With their wives the two men had spent the afternoon in the country where they had gone to purchase eggs.

The fatal accident occurred when the machine struck a deep rut in the road just as it reached an unexpected turn. Mrs. Padden and Mrs. Wilbur were not badly hurt, while the extent of Padden's injuries has not yet been determined. His head was severely cut, but he was able to be removed to his home.

Wilbur was a salesman for the Gordon Baking company at 5524 Federal st., while Padden has been employed by the Heissler and Junge bakery.

"A" BATTERY OF THE STORAGE TYPE NEEDS TO BE WELL KEPT UP

PROPER CHARGE SHOULD BE MAINTAINED AT ALL TIMES TO PREVENT NOISE

By Walter J. McDonnell
(Economist Technical Adviser)

The "A" batteries used in radio receivers are for the purpose of lighting the filaments of the vacuum tubes. They may be either of the dry cell or storage type, according to the type of tube used.

Dry cells are good only until they are discharged by constant use and then must be replaced by fresh ones.

Storage "A" batteries should always be kept up to their proper charge.

The condition of charge can be gauged by what is known as a "hydrometer." This is a glass vessel into which some of the solution from the storage battery can be drawn. A glass float is enclosed in the tubular glass vessel and will float at various levels, depending upon the condition of charge of the battery.

This float has a glass stem inside of which is an indicating scale, either marked in terms of specific gravity or by three red bands so spaced as to indicate the three conditions of charge of a battery.

When the float rises high enough in the solution to bring the bottom red band at a level with the top of the solution, the battery is fully charged. When it reaches only the middle red band, the battery is only half charged; and when it rises only high enough to bring the top band on a level with the liquid, or doesn't rise at all, the battery is completely discharged.

It is undesirable to allow a storage battery to run down entirely, as this results in a noisy receiving set, weakens the battery and requires a much longer time to recharge it. A run-down battery has an internal chemical reaction, or gassing, which causes uneven filament current, and, hence, a noisy receiver.

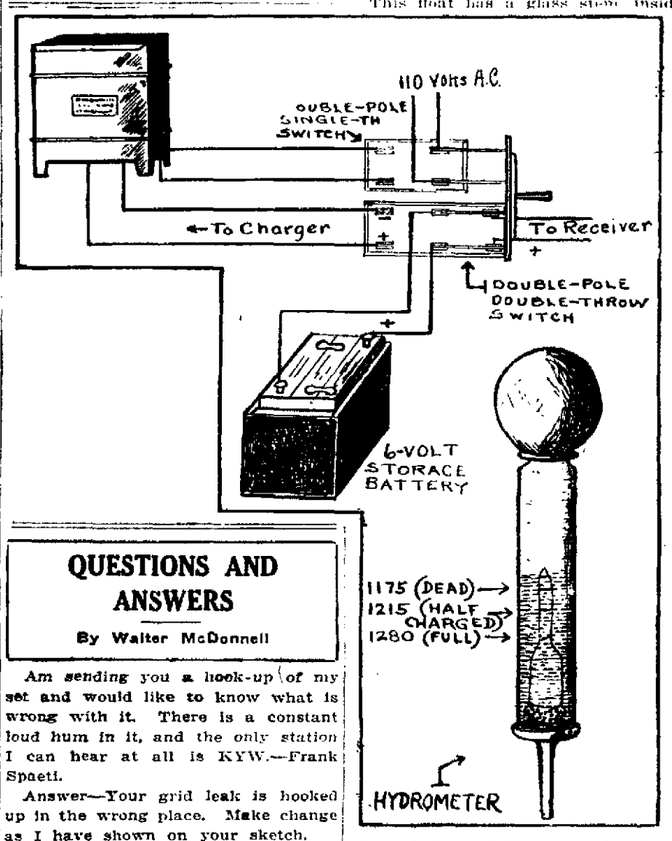
To maintain a properly charged battery, the best plan is to place it on charge as soon as you are through listening in at night and let it charge until morning.

For him who has a basement and can place the battery and charging outfit there without requiring more than 10 to 15 feet of wire to reach his set, the lay-out plan shown here will simplify this task to the extent of merely tossing a switch from one side to the other.

The sketch shows a double-pole, single-throw knife switch and a double-pole, double-throw knife switch, both switches having the same length blades so that the handles can be removed and a piece of bakelite bolted across both switches so that they can be operated in one movement.

The connections to the switches and devices are clearly shown and require no explanation.

Readers who own noiseless chargers of low ampere charging rate can rig this outfit upon a closet or spare room with equal satisfaction. If the closet is used for storing clothing, etc., it is unwise to use a charger exceeding 2 amperes, as a rate higher than this would cause a battery to give off fumes that would harm clothing and metalware.



QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

By Walter McDonnell

Am sending you a hook-up of my set and would like to know what is wrong with it. There is a constant loud hum in it, and the only station I can hear at all is KYW.—Frank Spaeti.

Answer—Your grid leak is hooked up in the wrong place. Make change as I have shown on your sketch.

I have a three-tube, Ultra-Audion set, which has always been O. K. Recently I moved to 6056 Champlain ave., and I notice that as soon as darkness sets in I get a very loud humming noise in my set, which is especially bad when I want to reduce the signal volume through the detector tube.

This humming noise can be heard through the detector tube even without lighting the tube. Also, the noise can be heard when the "A" or "B" batteries are disconnected. I have changed the position of my antenna, without improvement.

An Edison power station is only three blocks distant, and possibly the cause comes from there. I would appreciate very much any suggestion to help me eliminate the noise, which reminds me of a sawmill in operation.

P. S.—I use WV201A and 200 tubes.—Leo Cohen.

Answer—Check over your set for a loose grid or plate connection and, while doing so, making a copy of the hook-up and send same to this office and we will advise if any change can be made to eliminate the hum you speak of.

FRIENDS OF SOUTHTOWN ASS'N ENTERTAINED

As guests of the secretary, Clarence O. Rosen, members of the Southtown Building and Loan association, their relatives and friends were entertained Monday evening, November 24, at the College cafe, 735 Englewood ave. A musical program was furnished and refreshments were served.

Charles A. Churan, vice president of the Building Loan League of Illinois, spoke interestingly on the advantages offered by a modern building and loan association in a community.

This was one of a series of meetings the organization expects to hold with a view to acquainting potential members with what the Southtown association has to offer them.

START OPERATION OF CARS ON NEW LINE

Operation of cars on the extension of the Western ave. car line from 71st st. to 75th st. was started early Monday morning, and all cars that formerly had their terminus at 71st st. will go to the new terminus. This extension has been under construction for the past two months. Last week the 71st st. line from Western ave. to California ave. at Marquette park was opened for use.

SEEK KIWANIS HELP IN SAFETY TEACHING WORK

Illinois Automobile Club Wants Law Against Unfit Drivers

Introduction of a system of teaching safety in the Chicago grammar schools by means of a drawing book that gives visual examples to children of the need of being careful when crossing streets, and the passage of the competency bill in the state legislature making it necessary for all motorists to pass mental and physical tests before being allowed to drive automobiles were two methods of preventing motor accidents that members of the Englewood Kiwanis club were asked to support by Hugo Meyer, manager of the Illinois Automobile club, who spoke before the club at the meeting Tuesday.

"Education is the real means of solving the problem caused by the increasing number of deaths," said Mr. Meyer. "Parents neglect to teach their children the proper way to cross the street. Lectures and essays do not leave a great impression on a child's mind, but there is one thing that really stirs their imagination, and that is pictures.

Book for Every Child

"A drawing book has been prepared that illustrates graphically the things in regard to safety that a child should know and it is the aim of a number of men interested in safety work and of the organization I represent to put one of these books into the hands of every school child and have work taken from the pictures in them made part of the school course.

The Oak Park, Ill. board of education has introduced them into the schools and required that every teacher give a half hour's instruction in the work every day. It is also required that the children take the books home, discuss the problems presented by the pictures with their parents, and then recite them the following day.

Education for Adults

"This latter provision brings the need of safety before the adults. They are the ones who believe they know all about safety. However, the condition brought about by the ever increasing number of automobiles has given rise to new needs for safety and these they must learn. The drawing book, in addition to being the most effective means of teaching the child, brings before the older folk the same problem and stirs them to thought.

"It has long been the opinion that motorists are reckless and that most of the blame for accidents rests with them, but now those who have studied the problem appreciate the fact that the pedestrian is often at fault and this educational campaign, it is hoped, will give them an understanding of the need of protecting themselves.

Some Unfit to Drive

"However, there are some drivers who are unfit to operate a motor vehicle. The passage of the competency bill will make it impossible for those who are incompetent to drive. It will take the privilege away from those who have poor eyesight, faulty hearing, or who are crippled and thus unable to have full command of their faculties. It will serve as a penalty hanging over the heads of reckless drivers for the bill includes a provision making it possible to revoke the license of those drivers who repeatedly violate laws."

James E. Armstrong, principal of the Englewood high school and a member of the Kiwanis club, told of the need of warning signs near the Englewood and Lewis-Champlin schools and of the fact that most methods of safety teaching had little effect on children.

He told of one incident where a girl from the Lewis-Champlin school, immediately after repeating a pledge to look both ways before crossing the street in unison with other children at the close of the classes, ran into the path of a machine and was struck. Mr. Armstrong also urged that it be made imperative that the safety patrols organized in the grammar schools be kept in action.

President William C. Testmeier referred Mr. Meyer's plea for support in an effort to get the drawing books into the Englewood schools to the education committee of the club.

All Set

The prisoner was not professionally represented. Before proceeding with the case, the judge said:

"This is a very serious offense you are charged with. If you are convicted it means a long term of imprisonment. Have you no counsel to look after your defense?"

The prisoner in the most confidential manner leaned toward the judge and replied:

"No, your honor, I have no counsel; but I have some good friends on the jury."—Chicago Continent.

POPULAR SHOW HOUSE INCREASING IN FAVOR

The Englewood theater, 63rd near Halsted, is becoming one of the biggest amusement centers on the south side. The daily attendance has increased to such proportions that it is quite evident the amusement seekers are pleased with the splendid program offered, consisting of six high class acts of vaudeville and short subject movies.

The bill to be seen for the last half of the week, starting with a matinee Thursday, will consist of some big time acts including Lella White and her entertainers; and the breezy miniature musical comedy, entitled, "The Love Nest"; Charles Kenna, the fun-maker; Fink's Mules; Flager Brothers & Ruth, a trio of clever artists; and one more feature will contribute to a well balanced bill.

Opening with a matinee performance next Sunday, Frankie Kelcey, one of the best comedienne on the American stage, will make her appearance when, with a company of talented people, she will present a farcial offering with music.

Bill Dooley and his partner will be heard in songs and funny sayings; Pearson, Newport & Pearson, well known laugh provokers, will be on the bill, also the Butlers, and one more act. Pathe News, Aesops Fable and comedy pictures are to open the show.—Adv.

DOUBLE ENGAGEMENT PARTY

The four "principals" in two dramas of hearts made known last week to their friends. To left, Paul Troy, jr., and above, his fiancee, Miss Zena Walborn, while the other two are Miss Louise Kluesner and William Reich.

Announcement of the engagements of two couples was made Wednesday evening of last week at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Walborn, 6620 Laflin st. The coming marriage of Miss Louise Kluesner, 6236 Lincoln st., to William Reich, 59th st. and Normal blvd., and of Miss Zena Walborn to Paul Troy, jr., 6410 Wood st. was made public.

Until 11 o'clock when the guests were led to a beautifully decorated table, the party had progressed in customary fashion. From a "wishing well" which formed the centerpiece of the table the guests found ribbons extending to each plate. Attached to these were the announcements, each of which was rolled inside a diamond ring.

Miss Kluesner is an instructor at the Higginbotham school while Miss Walborn teaches at the Earle branch. Mr. Reich teaches in the high school at Marengo, Ill., and Mr. Troy is a salesman for the Southwest Coal and Material company. Definite marriage plans have not yet been made.

OFFICER HURT WHILE AFTER DRUNKEN DRIVER

Thrown from the running board of a commandeered car while in pursuit of a drunken driver at 69th and State sts. Wednesday night, Joseph N. Harlin, 36, 6839 Wabash ave., a police officer assigned to the Englewood station, was painfully lacerated about the face and hands.

A car driven by Charles Fitzmorris, 1522 E. 76th st., crashed into a machine driven by Peter Speeser, 6902 Wabash ave., and Fitzmorris, who the police claim was intoxicated, failed to stop. Harlin, who witnessed the accident, jumped on the running board of a car driven by D. S. Coffin, 7749 Evans ave., and started to chase the fleeing car. Coffin's machine struck a rut in the road and Harlin was thrown off. In spite of his injuries, Officer Harlin boarded Coffin's car and started after Fitzmorris again.

Fitzmorris was captured and locked in a cell in the Englewood station, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. Speeser signed the complaint against him. Friday Fitzmorris was arraigned in the Grand Crossing court and secured a continuance to December 11 in order to secure counsel.

SOUTHTOWN'S FIRST OPERA HOUSE NOW USED BY FACTORIES

JOHN B. LANYON, BUILDER AND OWNER, MANAGED THEATER OF FORTY YEARS AGO

Popular song and histrionic oratory no longer resound within the brick walls of the old building at 215 Englewood ave.—not even echoes of the stage hits of forty years ago.

Indeed, though its life has been comparatively short as one measures time from the standpoint of history, so rapidly do conditions change in this great city of ours that few there are of the present generation of residents in the vicinity who know the structure was Southtown's first "opera house."

Erected in 1884 by John B. Lanyon, proprietor of the undertaking establishment at 415 W. 63rd st., the playhouse was opened in the fall with Jessie Couthoul and Jessie Bartlett Davis on the initial program. The majority of the bills appearing at downtown theaters made a short run at the local house also.

Forty years ago when the building was put up, Mr. Lanyon was interested in contracting as well as his present business. He supervised the erection of the four story structure, changing his plans from his original intention to build only a one story stable. At the urgent suggestion of friends he added the second and third floors providing the theater and a fourth story which was rented to the Normal Park Odd Fellows organization. The ground floor housed the horses and equipment used in the undertaker's business.

Mr. Lanyon managed the theater until the building's sale in 1889. After changing owners frequently it came into the possession of the present proprietor, A. L. White, about twenty years ago. The White Organ company, Ries and Porter, and other manufacturers now occupy the one-time play house.

The building measures 110 feet by 65 feet, and is constructed in the substantial fashion of the 80's. Huge flagstones were used in its foundation, while the walls are of brick. Acoustic qualities were very good, the former manager said, actors frequently remarking upon this fact. But now all is changed, and if voices carry well that is only an aid to a factory foreman and not a means of entertaining audiences.

HARVARD SCHOOL SANITARY FACILITIES "WORSE THAN PRISON"

FATHERS CLUB AFTER BUILDING MODIFICATIONS; DEFER CITY-WIDE ASSOCIATION ACTION

Sanitary facilities of Harvard public school, at 75th st. and Harvard ave., were condemned as "worse than those of a poorly built prison" by members of a delegation from the Harvard Fathers club after an inspection made Saturday. The fathers were indignant at the conditions to which their children were subjected and declared their determination to get some remedial action started by the school administration before the next club meeting Friday, December 26.

The inspection was voted at a meeting Friday night, when the club began its second year of activity with a promise of an audience before the school board buildings and grounds committee.

The club has decided to modify its objective for the time being and will seek only pressing modifications of the building where it is believed the children's health might be affected. Various fathers who have examined the school roster declared it to be five or six years out of date and said that in case of a fire or accident it might be days before all the children could be checked. A thorough revision was requested.

President H. L. Fellowes announced that District Superintendent Hedges will be the club's guest and will address the members on school problems at the next meeting.

The club was divided into two teams, captained by A. V. Gustafson, 7433 Stewart ave., and A. A. Haley, 7449 Eggleston ave., for increasing membership. A. R. Cunningham is general membership secretary. All persons who have paid next year's dues of $1 were put on one of the teams, and all members, new or old, who are brought in hereafter will go to the credit of the side enrolling them.

The club deferred action on a resolution calling upon all fathers in the city to form clubs and join in a city-wide association to keep up interest in school administration.

The following officers took their places for the coming year: President, H. L. Fellowes, 508 W. 78th st.; vice-presidents, M. Dick Jack, 7546 Eggleston ave., and A. C. Kussmann, 7545 Stewart ave.; secretary, H. R. Smith, 7929 Harvard ave.; treasurer, John Bryce, 7721 Normal ave. R. R. Rhodes, 7655 Stewart ave., was appointed program chairman; Todd Kasehagen, 7757 Normal ave., school visitation chairman; and George C. Freese, 7011 Eggleston ave., chairman of the resolutions committee.

The club was invited to attend the Parent-Teacher association's meeting Friday night, December 19, when the children of Harvard school will present a play under the direction of Miss Flora Itenaud, the principal.

Southtown Music And Musicians

GEOGRAPHY, RELIGION, TEMPERAMENT, MAKE ITALIANS MUSICAL

NATIONS are the product of their environment. The bodily structure, the mental and spiritual disposition, and the habits of living of a people are influenced in a large way by nature.

Examine Italy for a moment and much of the musical greatness of the Italian will at once be understood.

From a geographical point of view she is ideally located. Dipping down into the warm Mediterranean she is almost surrounded by water. This gives her a climate of eternal summer where flowers and birds abound. Italian skies and Venetian nights have spun romantic charms in her poetry and song. Her hills are ever green with verdure, her trees are always vocal with the feathered songsters of the air, and her valleys flow with crystal waters from the Tyrolean Alps.

What a wonderful habitat for the muse of song! What a beautiful garden in which to plant the seeds of lovely things!

Italy has been the home of art and music from the early days of history. It is here the great poets of old breathed out their odes and sonnets. Here the great masters of harp, violin and clavichord developed the foundation of the modern orchestra, and your grand piano. Her cities and fields, her churches and theaters, her palaces and homes all breathe the same spirit of that which is beautiful and lovely. It is one of her great sources of inspiration (this love of the beautiful) which nature and history give to every Italian son and daughter.

Italy has a church that is as sacred and essential to her life as the family fireside. She has never had but the one altar of worship. It has woven its influences in the very woof of the Italian character.

The cradle of Christianity was first rocked in Rome and for 2,000 years the spires from her cathedral heights have gazed in hallowed reverence upon her children. From the early days of childhood to the closing hours of old age, at every step along the way, the church has worked its spell upon the Italian soul. What a tremendous force in the moulding and shaping of mind and heart.

No wonder the Italians sing with pictures of immortal vistas ever before their eyes! No wonder melody springs spontaneously from this people, with deep emotions, sacred pomp and heraldry, spiritual exultation and lofty admonition ever present about them.

To be a great artist, one must feel and think noble and sublime things. The atheist cannot feel the surge of immortality nor have the consciousness of the great, the beautiful, and lovely because these are the attributes of God, and to the atheist, there is no God. That is why we have the Angeloes, the Raphaels, the Beethovens and the Handels. The fires of inspiration must kindle the soul of a people before they can sing and paint and express in life the statues, pictures, roles and gems of thought. And this a heritage of religion that makes itself felt in the Italian music. You find it in most of the operas of this people. The grand and majestic march from Aida calls to mind the pontifical mass. The great coronation strains from Gioconda; the solemn "Misserere" of Il Trovatore, the "Ave Maria" from Tosca, the pathetic requiem from Cavaliera and "Thou Hast Spread Thy Wings to Heaven" in Lucia are all the echoes of the religious soul in the music of this people.

Besides, the Italian is of the most sensitive nature. He feels and acts upon impulse. He dreams and aspires with his soul in the clouds. His emotions are sharp and clean cut. He loves with a fiery passion and he hates with a bitterness of gall.

There is no middle ground for him to take. His likes and dislikes are strong and positive. Friendship and fidelity are attributes never to be treated lightly. He will not allow his finer emotions to be toyed with. They stand in his estimation higher than life. His is a temperment, fierce and volcanic when crossed, gentle and lovely when enamoured, brave and heroic when placed on honor. A personality of such makeup is an idealist, with little time for material things. His whole life has an aesthetic bent and so he becomes the poet, the painter and the singer.

Next week we will give further reasons why the Italians are a musical people.

LORO GOOCH FOUND DEALING WITH ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT NERVE TRYING

Interest in music provided Loro Gooch, 1111½ Hoyne ave., with a career after illness forced him to temporarily abandon singing. Familiarity with vocalsits and their problems led to his establishment in Chicago of the largest entertainment bureau of its kind in the country, which provided talent for lyceum, concert and orchestral work.

Professional training of Mr. Gooch started when he was a youngster featuring as a contortionist with his brothers, Leo and Hal, whose life aspiration was the formation of a second Ringling Brothers' enterprise via country fair platforms. None of the trio was older than 16 years when they launched their circus act. It was hastily abandoned due to parental pressure and the perfidy of a manager who eloped with their pay.

Initial appearance of the young entertanier as a singer occurred at the St. Louis exposition in 1904. His previous experience comprised one solo sung at a church in his home town, Newton, Ill., to the accompaniment of shaking knees. His first role in the Missouri city was that of chorus man in the production, "Louisiana." He was then 16 years old. Within four months he was given one of the leading parts and sang "The Spirit of Missippi" as high baritone.

Studies in Italy

Study abroad was the vogue for ambitious young musicians and six years later Mr. Gooch sailed on the "Barbarosa" for Florence, Italy. En route he sang for the Duke of York, who boarded the steamer at Gibralter. A year and a half was spent as a pupil of Senor Vanuccini, renowned conductor of the Royal theater in Florence.

"My advice to boys and girls preparing for a singing career today would be to start study at home," said Mr. Gooch. "American students in Europe are robbed for the privilege of foreign instruction when they can obtain the same work at home with equally capable teachers for beginners. Final preparation should be obtained in Europe. Languages can be studied here at a saving of time and money."

Travel to Naples, Rome, Hamburg, and Berlin gave Mr. Gooch material for colorful background in his work. He attended the bull fight in Madrid in honor of King Alphonso's wedding before returning home to start actual work as a singer.

He sang with the Carlton Opera company out of New York and traveled through the south in a company of which Carl Van Grove was the conductor. Mr. Van Grove is now a conductor of the Chicago Opera company. Among the artists with whom Mr. Gooch was identified were the late Edna Swans Verhaar, Ellis Brookes, and other prominent vocalists. His opera roles included "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Il Trovatore," "Manon," "Aida" and "Carmen."

One of his concert appearances was at Waco, Texas, when the Cotton Palace was opened there in 1911. His local programs have been given at the North Side Turner hall where Middleton and equally well known singers have appeared, at the Coliseum, accompanied by Ballman's fifty-piece band, and at Orchestra hall.

Loses Voice

Congratulations on his voice and work were received by Mr. Gooch from Herman DeVries, Chicago coach and musical critic, who had at one time coached him and managed him. It was during the singer's active concert work that he met and married Miss Rebecca Neff, a concert singer of New York and other cities.

Impairment of his voice due to a bronchial hemmorhage resulting from a cold necessitated him turning to another source of revenue while recuperating. He opened a musical bureau and his artists gave concerts at the Blackstone and Illinois theaters. He managed Charles Hart, Jennie Dufaul, Carl Cohems, Warran Proctor and Ralph Errolle, who sang with the Chicago Opera company last year, also the late Herman DeVries, brother of Herman DeVries.

Introduced Hawaiian Entertainers

"Musical bureau management is peculiar work. A man must know music well to suit the tastes of lyceum, cafe, concert and church demands. He must combine the artistic and the practical and be able to pick talent that will bring revenue," said Mr. Gooch. He found the bureau interesting but nerve-wrecking and listened to an average of 2,000 voices a year. He claims the distinction of having introduced into the United States Hawaiian entertainers.

"Real ability was rare and but one in fifty candidates had a marketable voice," was Mr. Gooch's estimate. "They filed into the bureau for tryouts, in many instances buoyed up with the false encouragement of greedy teachers and the confidence inspired by singing in trios and quartets before fellow pupils at musical teas. It was useless for me to try to discourage them and only a fruitless round of managers' offices ultimately convinced them to seek other lines of work.

Scores who were interviewed possessed remarkable voices but no personality. "A manager becomes trained to tell in the first few bars if a person really is a singer. A young man may have an excellent voice, but if he sings an impassioned aria from 'La Boheme' with no more feeling than 'Three Blind Mice' he can never aspire to a public career."

Is Better Farmer

Dupes lured to singing by persons who seek profit from their gullibility also are a grief in the life of a manager. "One woman about 50 years old came to me for a try-out before selling her Iowa farm as her teacher had urged to obtain money for cultivating her voice. I could hardly wait until the last rasping note had died out before imploring her to return to her dependable Iowa acres and forsake dreams of the concert stage. Her gratitude for the advice was touching."

Difficulties under which talent is procured is oftimes unknown by patrons who accept the evening's entertainment without thought of how it is assembled. One stifling summer night a telegram from Dayton, Ohio, informed Mr. Gooch the orchestra he had sent there was unsatisfactory. He had until the following night to replace it or lose his contract. Only a few hours of leeway were left him. He set out to locate enough musicians to form a new orchestra and found a banjoist in a cafe at 63rd and Halsted sts. playing cards at 5 o'clock in the morning, a drummer, in an obscure flat on the far west side, a violinist playing in LaPorte, Ind., and a pianist in Milwaukee. He hired a man to wheel the trunks from 17th st. and Michigan ave. to the Illinois Central for an early train and saw the newly assembled orchestra off to Dayton to save the contract.

Affairs of his musical bureau kept Mr. Gooch engaged until three years ago when he disposed of the major interest and entered commercial pursuits. He needed the tranquility of a real estate office, he stated, in which to recuperate from the damaging effort of controlling artistic temperament.
